1. FIFA 22 delivers the true ball physics of real-life football.
2. FIFA 22 players make more accurate sprint runs and acceleration moves.
3. Ball physics have been improved to make the ball feel more realistic and have more variability in unpredictable situations.
4. New visual features including video assisted animations, enhanced player models, player-impact collisions, player-specific animations for the “Goalkeeper Mode,” and a variety of improvements to ball physics make for a more visually appealing game. DAZN now offers a football documentary on demand called “PLAY UP! The Football Documentary,” and it explores the history of the sport including famous moments, the evolution of the players, the off-field leagues and more. “Our strategy is to bring closer together our expert television channels by offering the same documentary content to both platforms,” said Jan-Willem van Overbeeke, CEO of DAZN. “The Football Documentary reveals the passion that football presents at so many levels. With the collaboration between DAZN and Football Fever, we can now show this passion to soccer fans on demand.”

"Football Fever" features 13 clips from the documentary, including the likes of former players Roberto Carlos and Cesc Fabregas, as well as interviews with Paul Scholes, Alessandro Del Piero, and Henrik Larsson. The second season of the documentary "Football Fever" premiered on DAZN Football Fever Germany (DAZN FbG) on May 19, 2019. A portion of the proceeds of purchases of the "Play Up" documentary will go to UNICEF to support its "Pipeline" fund, a program that fuels life-saving programs for children around the world. "PLAY UP" is available as a TV Documentary on the first weekend of every month (June - August) and on Demand from May 17th and from September 1st on Germany's BILD-TV (DAZN FbG). It is also available in other countries and territories such as Asia, Canada, the Caribbean, Europe, Middle East, Japan, Latin America, Nordic Countries and the U.S.. Fans in the U.K. can watch the DAZN curated "Football Fever Documentary" on Sunday May 26th at 7.30pm on BBC Two.
